

Advanced Interview/Interrogation

(POST Plan IV Certified Course #31465)

Take your tactical interviewing strategy to the next level. This "state-of-the art" method that was developed through years of formal scientific research and integrates with ANY interview system.

Course Description: Understanding body language and reading people well is a crucial skill for many professionals whose jobs require interviews, interrogations, and information collection and reaction elicitation of others. This POST certified course leverages state-of-the-art behavioral science about behavioral indicators that have been validly and reliably demonstrated as signs of critical mental states.

Participants will:

- Gain knowledge and skill development to identify various behavioral indicators of specific emotions, cognitions associated with words or verbal phrases, cognitive processes, and overall arousal.
- Apply this knowledge base and skills in interviews and interrogations.
- Improve their abilities to gain insights about the mindsets of the interviewees by focusing on the world of nonverbal behavior evaluated in context against verbal output.
